PLEASE PASS THE SALT

Every so often Americans ease their national conscience by dusting off the pay-as-you-go policy and admiring its virtues. The customary time for this is just before congress convenes. That time now is at hand.

Always to be found among those with a word of praise for the idea of making income and outgo balance are congressmen. It's the only time they dare to come out flatfooted against spending money; minorities don't care what congressmen say about economy as long as they vote Yes on gravy boat bills when the right time comes.

What it amounts to is that the government of the United States is not greatly different from the average American family, as far as money's concerned. Everybody talks about cutting expenses and perhaps getting a little something ahead, but when the time comes to spend, things always get out of hand. The average family, however, doesn't have the power to manipulate the value of money, so its ceiling of indebtedness soon is reached.

It is possible to read these days in or between the lines of many stories from Washington that deep concern is being taken in government spending. Even national defense, according to President Roosevelt, must be put on a pay-as-you-go basis. The country is encouraged. It has been encouraged at least once a year ever since the spenders showed what streamlined liberalism looks like.

SOMETHING TO SELL

The presence of German propaganda ministry agents at Lima for the opening of the Pan-American conference tells much of the story of what is happening in South America. It explains this government's anxiety over the contest for influence in this hemisphere.

The United States has something to sell to South Americans, besides goods. It can help South Americans to preserve the thing they finally won exactly 124 years ago, Dec. 9, 1824, when the last of the Spanish viceroys was beaten by a republican army in a battle that drove Spain finally out of the continent.

Dec. 9 was chosen as the opening day of the conference because it is Latin America's equivalent of Independence day. It is the day which commemorates the cause of liberty to which Simon Bolivar, the "liberator," sacrificed his life. It is the day when Latin Americans celebrate, as citizens of the United States celebrate on July 4, independence from the old world.

The tendency in these times is to attribute great strength to those nations which boast most about it. Thus, Germany is said to be strong because it says it is strong. The United States, many seem to believe, should do more boasting.

In effect, that is what it will do at Lima. The omen for its success is good. Its representatives can boast not only of strength, but of one thing which Germans do not even dare to mention—the right to be free.

CYNICISM SPOILED IT

At the beginning of this week the entire country was permitted to learn by formal announcement that James Roosevelt had been made vice president of a moving picture company at a large salary.

This was the more remarkable in view of the fact young Mr. Roosevelt recently had undergone a major operation which threatened to put him on the shelf for the rest of the winter. He admitted recently he didn't expect to resume his duties as a presidential secretary until next spring.

His sudden elevation in the movie industry was as vivid an example of the opportunities which lie in wait for a man in the United States as has been offered in recent times. And what happens? Why, instead of taking the cue at its face value, commentators missed their cue and made insinuations that: (1) Young Mr. Roosevelt didn't know much about the moving picture business, and (2) the moving picture business was paying him too much for what he did know.

Congratulations should have been forthcoming for the breath-taking success of the country's most publicized junior executive. Cynicism spoiled the whole thing.

WHY DOESN'T SOMEONE TELL HIM?

Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia is adequately informed, even though he never has been taken into the fraternity of new deal liberalism.

Perhaps it's resentment at being left out in the cold which prompted him to say in a speech down

INDUSTRIAL CO-OPERATION IS KEYNOTE

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—The men who produce and distribute the nation's goods today stood committed to a 1939 program for industry based largely on a "cooperate-with-government" plan.

The group in the National Association of Manufacturers which favored cooperation with the government won its point only after a close-drama, behind-the-scenes struggle at the association's annual meeting.

A routine adoption of the platform discounted predictions of some delegates that a floor fight would develop, particularly on the section which originally called for changes in the National Labor Relations Act. All such recommendations were eliminated in the platform approved.

The convention went into its last day with the nation's industrial giants awaiting the speech to-night of Anthony Eden, former British foreign secretary who is in Roanoke that the American people will have "a rude awakening" when they come to pay the national debt. What a way to talk! His best friends should tell him.

The papers and speeches of new dealers can be gone through forward and backward without uncovering a single shred of evidence that they ever have given a thought to the matter of paying back the money. Once in a while they guess the debt can be increased a lot more without danger, but that's all.

Only persons like Sen. Byrd, unaffected by the new liberalism, ever wonders how long it will take the United States to pay back $5 billion dollars—perhaps a lot more than that. This clearly marks them as reactionaries interested in stuff like money and not able to understand that money's only the means to an end.

THE STARS SAY:

For Saturday, December 10

THE PROGRESS of this day seems to be threatened by a tendency to "fly off the handle" or do things of a tempestuous, reckless or impetuous character, which possibly may have detrimental consequences in business or in the private life. With proper control of strenuous and turbulent inclinations, there is prospect of many decided benefits of a definite nature. New contracts, speculative enterprises and personal adventures in a social or romantic manner are likely.

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy a very active, progressive and prosperous year if they will not attempt to put over promising matters by main force, high pressure or impetuosity. These will react in quarrels, hostility and defeat. With moderation and calm deliberation, there are benefits from new contracts or speculation. There should be happy adventures of a private or romantic character.

A child born on this day may have a very determined and probably wayward and reckless character, attempting to win out against all obstacles and stresses. This attitude may incur much opposition, enmity and consequent defeat of many excellent prospects.

making his first appearance in the United States.

Storms at sea delayed the arrival of Eden and his party and the association made elaborate preparations to take the distinguished British visitor off the liner Aquitania at quarantine early tonight and land him at the battery, where a police escort will wait to hurry him to the Waldorf Astoria hotel. Meanwhile, the so-called government co-operationists counted a victory which included defeat for a proposal which would have put the association on record as condemning the administration's reciprocal trade agreement programs. They also persuaded the powerful resolutions committee to amend a section of the platform which called for the abolition of special federal regulatory agencies.

The program approved called for cooperation of industry, commerce, agriculture and labor with government and conceded there had been mistakes on all sides and "we in industry admit our share of mistakes". The industrialists' statement of policy, while recognizing the need for continued unemployment relief, suggested a plan for the restoration of jobs of some 9,000,000 unemployed.

The program urged business to realize the human responsibilities, be frank with the public, maintain high standards of quality, lower prices as feasible, maintain sound employ relations and be a "desirable citizen of the community" in which they operate.

The program also recognized labor's right to bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing and without intimidation from any source.

The program urged the government to adjust its fiscal policy to attract investment with "immediate, genuine and determined steps toward a complete balancing of the national budget".

Smell And Taste, Chemical Senses, Play Important Roles

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

SMELL AND TASTE are known as the chemical senses because they are stimulated only by a chemical substance which lights on the nerve ends. Smell is more acute—that is, smaller amounts of a substance are necessary to arouse the sensation of odor than of taste.

The sensitivity of smell has been compared to a chemical balance in comparison to the sensitivity of taste, which is that of a grocer's scale. There is still another sense which resides in mucous membranes—a sense of the nature of substances—and this has been compared to a hay scale.

You can smell 0.0125 per cent of alcohol! It requires three parts to be tasted and it takes five to ten parts to leave a stinging sensation on the inside of the cheek.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Smell with us is not nearly as well developed as in the lower animals. Most of their sense life probably is olfactory while most of ours is visual. Our olfactory lobes in the brain have degenerated and deteriorated until it is a very small ganglia, while that of certain lower animals overshadows the entire brain.

Entry for Disease

As a matter of fact, it probably would be a good thing if our olfactory organ continued to degenerate until it entirely disappeared. The nerves of smell come down through the small opening in the skull at the upper part of the nose and through these probably a great many infectious diseases, such as infantile paralysis and meningitis, may make their entrance into the body. This was the basis a few years ago of the preventive treatment of infantile paralysis in which these nerve endings were sealed. It did not prove successful but we may have a more successful method, I understand, in the near future.

No classification of odors has ever been satisfactorily made. Hemming, the physiologist, attempted to make eight. His odors were (1) flowery, or violet; (2) fruity, or lemon; (3) spicy, or nutmeg; (4) resinous, as frankincense; (5) putrid, as hydrogen sulphide; and (6) burning, as tar.

The sensation of taste resides in very complicated nerve cells, known as taste buds, in the tongue and in other parts of the oral cavity. Most of the taste buds on the tongue are far back, although in young babies the sense of taste is mostly located on the tip of the tongue. This is probably also true of animals who test all substances so far as taste is concerned, with the tip of the tongue first. Babies, of course, test it on account of their nursing necessities. As time goes on the distribution of taste changes from the tip of the tongue to the back of the tongue.

Primary Tastes
Nobody knows where the taste center in the brain is, but it must have wide connections because taste, like smell, gives rise to innumerable associations.

The primary tastes are sweet, salty, sour and bitter. Chemists have tried to show that there is a relation between the chemical structure of different substances and sweetness. Sugar, of course, is not the only thing that creates the sense of sweetness. For instance, sugar of lead will do it and so will chloroform.

Taste and smell play a very important part in our happiness and our reactions to the world. They are closely connected with each other and the smell alone will arouse a sensation of taste. Both, of course, create a stimuli in the digestive tract, resulting in the pouring out of digestive juices, and thus contributing to our nutrition and the physiology of digestion.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—A New York manufacturer who got his start as an office boy was named today as president of the National Association of Manufacturers.

S. shipping board's emergency fleet corporation.

"Open Door" Policy In China Is Gone, Minister Declares

TOKYO, Dec. 9.—A source close to the government said today that Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita had informed the United States and Great Britain the principle of the "open door" in China had vanished.

The minister was said to have spoken fully and frankly to United States Ambassador Joseph C.
Grew and British Ambassador Sir Robert Leslie Craigie leaving no doubt as to Japan's position.
The informant said his "conversation contained such phraseology as 'henceforth, you will be permitted x x x' and 'you will not be permitted x x x'—referring to conditions under which foreign commerce may continue in China.

Concrete questions were not touched, it was said, but Arita laid down two general principles showing Japan's line of policy. Specific questions will be determined according to the following principles:
1 — The Chinese-Japanese conflict has changed the political situation in China and has virtually dismantled the nine power pact, which among other things provided equal opportunity for all powers.
2 — Japan, Manchoukuo and "new" China have become a new economic bloc, but they do not intend to exclude foreign trade.

Arita was reported to have said that the principle of "Asia for the Asiatics" was about to come into existence.
Japan, he stated, aims to liberate herself and China from dependency on foreign markets, foreign finance and foreign raw materials.

Alliance Pastor Speaks In Lisbon

LISBON, Dec. 9.—Rev. John Stephans, pastor of the Alliance
First Presbyterian church, spoke at a Father and Son banquet Thursday evening in the Presbyterian church here.
Rev. Stephans based his talk on a recent trip through Europe describing conditions in many of the countries figuring prominently in the day's news. A turkey dinner was served.

Paralysis Theory

CLEVELAND, Dec. 9.—Dr. John
A. Toomey, professor of pediatrics and contagious diseases at Western Reserve university, said yesterday his own research pointed to the entry of the infantile paralysis virus into the body by way of the digestive tract rather than through the nose, as commonly believed, and added there were strong indications that fruit carries the virus.
He declared infantile paralysis occurs when perishable fruits and vegetables begin to ripen in the fall.

STUDENTS FAVOR ITALIAN DEMAND

Demonstrations Continue As Italy Seeks Land In Tunisia

ROME, Dec. 9.—Demonstrations against France continued today, and diplomatic circles predicted they might lead to a formal Italian demand for "concessions" in French Tunisia.

Twelve hundred Rome students marched through the streets, cried for Premier Mussolini to appear on the Piazza Venezia balcony, and when he did not, marched away in two columns shouting "forward Italy" and demands for French territories.

Several of the students were arrested for encounters with police who barred the streets to the French embassy. They later were released.

Four thousand students, of every age from the elementary schools to the university, went toward the French consulate at Naples, but the streets there likewise were blocked by police.

Rome newspapers called the situation in French Tunisia "ever more serious," said "dozens of Italians had been arrested" and asserted the native population kept aloof from the tumult.

More Demonstrations
There were demonstrations last night on the Italian mainland, the Island of Sardinia, and in Tripoli, city of the Italian African possession, Libya.

Exactly what Italy wanted was obscure but foreigners thought it likely one objective was control over Tunisians of Italian blood, estimated at from 34,000 to 120,000.
Such control would be a matter

The demonstrations the past ten have emphasized a cry for posses-

Four Are Arrested In Labor Dispute

CANTON, Dec. 9.—Four men, two of them leaders of local labor union groups, were arrested here early today on affidavits charging highway robbery, the outgrowth of a labor dispute episode near Newell, W.
Va., last Nov. 15.

Under arrest are:
Thomas Oakes, 42, president of the Stark Tri-County Building Trades council, Canton; Jerome Rothermel, 33, business agent of a milk drivers union, Canton; Delbert Leasure, 26, and Ben Johnson, 41, truck drivers, from Alliance.
The four men were arrested on affidavits sworn to by Raymond

Reed of East Liverpool. Reed charged in the affidavits that the four men stopped him while he was driving from East Liverpool to Newell last Nov. 15, manhandled him, tore wiring from his truck, destroyed packages in shipment and took $16.92 which he had in a bag on the seat of the truck.
The arrest was made by local police and Chief Deputy P. A. Byers of Hancock county, W. Va.

"THE GREAT WALTZ," glamorous musical drama based on the life of Johann Strauss, recreates the romance of old Vienna at the State theater, where it is playing with Luise Rainer, Fernand Gravel and Miliza Korjus, new opera star discovery, heading an elaborate cast. The picture shows tonight and Saturday.

The story deals with the life and loves of Strauss, played by Gravel, his wife, Poldi, played by Miss Rainer, and the opera singer with whom he was infatuated, enacted by Mme. Korjus, who sings "Tales of the Vienna Woods" and other haunting Strauss songs in spectacular presentations.

Elaborate Details The Imperial Opera, the palace of Emperor Franz Josef, Vienna during the Metternich revolution, the Vienna Woods, are elaborate details in the picture. A 90-piece symphony orchestra accompanies the beautiful Viennese singer in opera and other musical sequences. Miss Rainer rises to dramatic heights in scenes with her rival for the composer's love, Miss Korjus, has a flair for comedy and is glamorous personified as Carla Donner, the opera song bird.

Players in an exceptionally fine supporting cast include Hugh Herbert, Lionel Atwill, Curt Bois, Leonid Kinsky, Al Shean, Minna Gombell, George Houston, Bert Roach, Greta Meyer, Herman Bing, Alma Kruger, Henry Hull, Sig Ruman and Christian Rub.

Here and There About Town

Rev. Carl Asmus is speaker "Propaganda and Tolerance" was the subject of an interesting address by Rev. Carl Asmus, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, at Thursday's noon luncheon and meeting of the Kiwanis club, at the Memorial building.

Rev. Asmus discussed the flow of ideas, on all subjects, most of which might be properly classified as propaganda. We can be tolerant of most ideas, he pointed out, though we need not necessarily accept them as truth or act upon them.

He was presented by C. W. Kaminsky.

own car and driven away near Waynesville last night.

The night's events started when a new car with stolen Missouri license plates was wrecked.

Corporal Powell was sent from Wilmington to investigate the accident. Finding two men and two women standing by a ditched car, he hailed a passing car driven by Joe Sheldon of Greenville for help.

As he helped transfer luggage from the wrecked car, he saw a sub-machine gun on the seat. He said the men, who had been watching him closely, immediately drew guns, ordered him into his own car, and drove off with both his and Sheldon's, leaving Sheldon in the road.

Calls Phone Exchange

Another motorist saw them drive off and called the Lebanon telephone exchange. An operator immediately called the Wilmington patrol station and asked for all available patrolmen.

Powell telephoned an hour later from a farmhouse 10 miles away that he had been handcuffed and tossed bodily into a field. He warned that the quartet was carrying, in addition to the machine gun, an automatic rifle and a pistol.

Then his car was found abandoned, the motor still running, a mile from the field on a country road.

The trail turned to South Lebanon when Sheldon's car was found there wrecked. The four apparently split up, the men stealing a coupe to continue their flight. Indiana state police blockaded the state line.

Two men in a coupe attempted to take an automobile from Louis Luecke, 65, of Hopkinsville, but he threw away the key. They slugged him and drove on in the coupe. They then tried unsuccessfully to take a South Lebanon school teacher's car.

Discovery of the coupe and a sawed-off shotgun abandoned near the village sent the hunters into the Little Miami river bottoms there. A freight train was stopped and searched.

Then two Middletown policemen, Harvey Kurth and Paul Clark, arrested two women in Kings Mill and shortly after midnight the Washington Court House arrest was made by Patrolmen Vadim Lang and Jeff Ellis.

Mystery Story Ends Happily

A happy ending to a missing bride story was written when an amnesia victim whose identity had puzzled Albany, N. Y., police for weeks was claimed by her husband, Albert Snead of Owosso, Mich. They are shown above. He identified her through a picture in a Michigan paper. She had wandered in a daze through several states, finally had been placed in an Albany hospital.

ing fire arms. Black said, and was released in 1933. The officer said Cross told him that he, his brother, Paul Cross, and a third man who was unnamed participated in the Columbian robbery.

The brothers also figured in the robbery of a Pennsylvania tavern last March 20 in which Highway Patrolman Harry Cooper was shot, besides numerous liquor store robberies in the Pittsburgh area, Black said.

Paul Cross was killed several months ago in a fight with a sheriff at Oberdon, N. D. Black said. David Cross and Russell met shortly afterward at Blackfoot, Idaho, where they were working in the beet fields. Black said he was told, and they started their series of robberies, going first to Fairfield, Neb.

After a robbery there, they went to St. Louis, bought clothing, then went to Hayti, Mo., where they picked up the Day woman, Black continued.

From there they went to Kentucky, where they picked up the Hayes woman in Ashland on Thanksgiving day.

Toledo Attorney Is Herbert's Aid

CLEVELAND, Dec. 9.—Evan M. Chase of Toledo will be first assistant to Atty-Gen-elect Thomas J. Herbert when the latter takes office Jan. 9, Herbert announced today.

He also announced the appointment of Erwin G. Schuessler of Cincinnati as chief counsel, to succeed William S. Evatt, whom Gov-elect John W. Bricker has named state finance director.

Chase, who is 47, was Herbert's campaign manager. He has been a Toledo attorney since the World war, in which he served as a U. S. Army first lieutenant in the expeditionary forces. He is a Kenyon college graduate.

Schuessler, 45, who served two terms in the state's house of representatives was an assistant attorney general under Bricker from 1934 to 1937. He, too, is a World war veteran.

Blaine's first conference in Washington in 1889, included only a speech by President Benevides of Peru at 5 p. m. (EST).

Secretary Hull will speak at the first business session tomorrow.

Heads of delegations insisted that the meeting would not produce sensational results but would carry the ideal of Pan-American cooperation an appreciable step forward.

Secretary Hull, quietly continuing conversations with other delegates up to the opening meeting, reaffirmed his optimism that conference decisions would be unanimous.

BOWLING RESULTS

Leaders in the Commercial league were the victims of upsets at the Grate Recreation alleys last night as the first-place Merit Shoes dropped three games to the Salem News and the second-place Salem Label Co. lost two games to Washingtonville Odd Fellows.

The Label Co. managed to salvage one game to gain a notch on the league leading Shoemen. A match between the third and fourth place Smith's Creamery and Grate Recreation was postponed.

Other matches saw the Grate West End Service Station take two out of three games from the Salem Polo Club, the Crescent Machine with three heats from Berg Bretzels and the Leetonia Super Service take two out of three games with the Ohio Bell.

E. L. Grate of the Salem Label Co. team turned in the best score of the night and the second best score of the league season in hitting 67 on games of 192, 212 and 223. Bob Ketterer had 579 including a 223 game, in pacing the News to three wins over Merit's.

Unkindest Cut
CHICAGO—As Cook county efficiency expert, J. L. Jacobs had suggested the 15 per cent salary cut that all county employees took at the worst of the depression. Subsequently he became county assessor. Now he has brought suit to compel the county to pay him the $1,886 by which the cut reduced his salary.

PACKERS, GIANTS PREP FOR TITLE FOOTBALL GAME

Don Hutson to Be Back In Green Bay Lineup for Championship Tilt
By DREW MIDDLETON
NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—The Green Bay Packers, the large young men who stand between the Giants and the national professional football championship, polished their rugged offensive maneuvers today for Sunday's battle.

With any sort of a break in the weather the game should pull 60,000 or so fanatics into the Polo Grounds. The Giants are as popular as a boost in pay around here and the prospect of seeing them play the same sort of game they turned on against the Redskins in winning the eastern division title last week has the 42nd street alumni all hopped up.

What makes the Green Bays so much tougher than they were two weeks ago, when the Giants downed them 15-3, is the presence of Don Hutson, the end who is the best pass receiver in the business. He was on the sidelines with an injury the last time the Packers were here. As he has scored nine touchdowns this year he gives the offense a healthy push.

Everyone else is in shape, too. The Packers sneaked into the western division championship last Sunday while the Philadelphia Eagles were kicking the tar out of their last opposition, the Detroit Lions. So they have had two weeks and more of rest. Clark Hinkle, the great fullback, has two good legs again.

Curly Lambeau, the coach, indicated last night he thought the Packers might try the air lanes Friday and Ohio Northern.
All this worries Steve Owen, the Giant coach.
"Look," he said, "we have been hot for two games. The Packers haven't played since they played us. We are pretty badly battered while they are fresh and they have Hutson back. Not to mention Isbell, who is a whale of a player in my book."

ARMY AND NAVY CALLED "SNOBS"

Sen. Walsh Says Service Schools Should Play All Over Nation
NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Charges that "radical professors" were behind current moves to de-emphasize college sports were coupled today by Sen. David I. Walsh (D-Mass.) with a proposal that the Army and Naval academy teams play games in all sections of the country.

Walsh said in an interview that present athletic schedules for the service teams appear "snobbish." "Annapolis and West Point belong to the whole country," he said, "and their teams ought to play in the south, on the Pacific coast and in every other section of the country and not select big games year after year with the same little group of schools."

The senator took issue with a recent magazine article by President Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago who advocated games "in which all students can play," ten cent admissions for football, and requirements that coaches hold academic teaching positions.
Walsh named the greatest benefits of the present system as "democratization of our youth" and "equality of opportunity."
"Radical-minded teachers and professors who are antagonistic to the traditional democratic system," the senator said, "are seeking to discredit large scale intercollegiate sports and thus lay the ground work for replacing it with the system of antiquated and uninspiring intramural games in vogue in European countries where dictators

COUNTY CLASS A SCHOOLS PLAY 90 CAGE GAMES

LIVERPOOL HAS IDEAL PROGRAM IN FANS' ANGLE

Salem Has Smallest Schedule of County Class A Schools

A total of 90 games will be played by Columbiana county's five Class A High school basketball teams during the 1938-39 season, schedules of the various schools revealed today.

One county Class A team, Lisbon, has already opened its cage season while two others, East Liverpool and Wellsville, lift the lid on their 1938-39 campaigns tonight.

Salem and East Palestine will see action for the first time of the new season next week, the Quakers meeting Lisbon at the county seat Thursday and East Palestine facing Salineville at home Friday.

Of the 90 games scheduled for the county's Class A teams, 13 are with out-of-state opponents. East Liverpool leads in the number of games with out-of-state foes, playing seven. Wellsville is booked for three games against teams from another state, while East Palestine will play two and Lisbon one. Salem is not scheduled for a game with an out-of-state team.

From a fan's viewpoint, East Liverpool's schedule is ideal. The Pipers will play 22 games during the season, 13 of these on their home floor. Their schedule includes practically all of the strong teams in the northeastern Ohio district and a number of the better teams in western Pennsylvania.

Salem's schedule is the smallest in the county and includes fewer home games than any other county team. The Quakers are booked for 16 engagements, eight at home and eight on foreign soil.

Wellsville and East Palestine are each scheduled for 17 games, while Lisbon will play 18 contests. Wellsville's schedule lists nine games at home and eight away, East Palestine has 10 home games and seven away and Lisbon has nine games at home and a like number away.

New gymnasiums, constructed with the aid of federal government funds, will be placed in use at Lisbon and Wellsville for the first time this season. The Beacon Memorial gym in Wellsville will be dedicated when the Bengals play Lisbon on Jan. 7.

The county's three leading Class B schools—Columbiana, Leetonia and Salineville are booked for 57 games. Salineville has the largest schedule of the Class B teams, listing 23 games, 12 at home and 11 away. Columbiana will play 17 games, nine at home and eight away. Leetonia is booked for 17 games, although seven of its dates have not been filled as yet.

Leetonia did not take an active part in interscholastic basketball activity until the middle of last season when its new High school building, containing a modern, up-to-date gymnasium, was completed.

Tonight's games involving county teams will find Lisbon at East Liverpool, Wellsville at Salineville and Columbiana at New Waterford.

WESLEYAN WINS AS BUTTERMORE LEADS SCORING

Bishops Rally In Second Half To Triumph Over Muskingum Quint

(By Associated Press)
Lively action on the Ohio college basketball front brought victories last night to Ohio Wesleyan, Ashland, Bowling Green, Heidelberg and Findlay.

Jack Buttermore, sharp-shooting guard, led the Bishops to a resounding 51-34 triumph over Muskingum. With Wesleyan trailing in the first half, Buttermore cut loose with a barrage of field goals and charity tosses that put the Bishops comfortably ahead. He turned in a total of 13 points.

Ashland's cagers turned back a determined Hiram contingent to win by one point, 40 to 39. The count was knotted at 35-all in the final period. Richcreek looped 14 of Ashland's units.

Bowling Green was pressed to trounce Bluffton, 39-34. The Bee-Gees held a 19-13 half-time margin but Bluffton threatened repeatedly in the second half to share the honors. Sophomore Roy Croyle, forward, netted 16 points to pace Bowling Green.

Heidelberg's romping Student Princes had matters in hand throughout with Ohio College of Chiropractic at Cleveland, coming out on the pleasant side of a 43-25 score. Forward Phil Kuntz sank a dozen of the Princes' points.

Findlay's fast breaking attack in the second half was too much for an invading Defiance quintet and gave Findlay a 43-29 victory. DeLandre netted 28-19 at the half. Guard Don Renninger sparked Findlay with 10 points.

Paced by center Marshall and Forwards Ruby and Chojnicki, who counted 33 points between them, Ohio Northern defeated Tiffin business college, 41 to 33, at Ada.

SYDNEY, Australia—Sydney motorists don't care for safety lectures. Under the regulations of a new "courtesy squad" which is authorized to give traffic violators the choice between going to court or attending lectures at a "Better Understanding" meeting, the offenders generally prefer to go to court, pay the fine and escape discussion of traffic safety.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

BY SID FEDER
NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Jack Dempsey is predicting Joe Louis' downfall—not right away, but not too far off either. "He'll go back all of a sudden, same as me," says Jack. "He's out of the ring a lot, he'll get fat and out of shape and take things easy. Then along comes some young fellow and belts him one." If ever a guy is on the spot, it's Ray Carroll, Lou Nova's manager. There he was sitting with Lou at the fight writers' party yesterday, when Gene Tunney upped and said—right out in meeting—that Nova was being brought along too fast. That if he knocks out Tommy Farr next week, the only clouter left will be Louis—and he's not ready for that yet. Then Dempsey came along and said the same thing. So Carroll hopped right back at 'em, insisted he's carefully thought over every match his youngster has had, and that all contenders today are third raters—except Nova, of course. When they awarded Dempsey the Eddie Neil medal, a lot of the boys remembered that Eddie's first fight assignment with the AP was covering Jack's training camp before the second Tunney fight.

Notes off the cuff from the series' shindig: Ham Fisher, Joe Palooka's boss pointing out how well Dempsey wears the gray in his vest these days. Nova sporting a swell shiner, a gift from a spasmate. Jack, all choked up and grateful, spluttering like a kid caught playing hooky when the award was announced. Bill Kern says the toughest fellow his Carnegie Techs tangled with this year was Ed Longhi, the Notre Dame center. Bill contends the most important part of your defense is a pair of crack back-uppers, even more than a line.

Columbia Sid Luckman, who played the season's last two weeks with a busted nose, has about decided to pass up any pro football chances so that he can start a business career. Comeback dept.: Ten years ago, Tom Sebring was given the old heave-o as U. of Florida coach because his Gators dropped three games. Now the university has chosen him president of the Alumni association.

Basketball bizness filling the mail-bag these days. Texas Wesleyan's Rams, who only won 22 out of 23 last year, are looking for a couple more top flight outfits to fill out their schedule. This department will forward any queries. Rams may take a crack at the National A. A. U. tournament this year. And Colorado folks write the Buffaloes are bringing a team east several points better than Whizzer White's outfit of last season. Another nomination for classy grid coaching goes to Hardin-Simmons' Frank Kimbrough, whose boys won 31, lost seven in four years. Notre Dame has made the top flight in those Dickinson grid ratings 11 times in the last 15 years. The year's All-American jinx goes to Auburn's Junior Burns, who only was knocked out once, dislocated his collar bone, sprained both ankles, broke a rib, split his head and had his eye cut. wonder what would happen if the Plainsman played more than ten games.

PIRATE TRADES ON WHOLESALE SCALE IN VIEW

Traynor to Keep Rizzo But Waner Duo May Be Parted

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 9.—The news from Pittsburgh is that the Pirates are preparing to buy, sell, trade or even give away players at wholesale rates to prepare for 1939, but according to Manager Pie Traynor, one man sure to be there when the robins come north is Johnny Rizzo.

The Pirates, who have won only two pennants in the last 29 years, finished second last season, two games from the top in their best showing since 1933, when they also took second place money, and Rizzo was mainly responsible.

Inserted into the Pittsburgh outfield last season, Rizzo affected the Pirates like an injection of liquid dynamite. He graduated from Columbus in the American Association and came up in 1938 carrying a .358 batting average and a capacity load of confidence. He followed a parade of almost two dozen players that had tried and failed to stick in the Pittsburgh outfield alongside those hardy perennials, the Waner brothers.

One dollar would have brought five at the beginning of last season if a better said that the youthful Rizzo would make the grade and above all, that he'd slam major league pitchers for an average of .300. Old Joe Precedent had him ticketed as a failure when he took over his pike post, but to Rizzo, his first year in the majors was just another joyride.

When the records for 1938 were tabulated, Johnny's line score read: 143 games 555 times at bat; 97 runs scored; 167 hits, including 31 doubles, 9 triples and 23 homers; 111 runs batted in, and one stolen base. His mark of 23 four-baggers set a new high for a Pittsburgh player, bettering by four the old record set by Arky Vaughan in 1935.

Rizzo will be 26 on July 20, 1939, and stands an even 6 feet when he takes his cut at the ball. He first crashed into a professional boxscore with Galveston of the Texas League in 1931. His average for 23 games that season was .276 and marked the only time in his fairly short career that he batted under .300.

From there on, an ever-improving Rizzo shuffled to the Western Association, Elmira in

No Indication Of Marshall Dropping Out Of Ohio Loop

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Dec. 9.—Short glances around the Ohio sports arena!

If Marshall college resigns from the Buckeye conference at Saturday's meeting, as persistent rumors indicate, the action will be taken up under the "other business" heading. At least there's nothing on the 19-item program, mapped by Secretary George Gauthier, that even hints at an opening for the Thundering Herd to speak its exit lines.

This may be the last meeting of the Buckeye Athletic conference. Item No. 14 on the programs calls for "consideration of changing the name of the conference." The loop lead, with member teams in Michigan and West Virginia as well as Ohio, that "Buckeye" does not indicate the full score of the tough little circuit.

The conference also will discuss the 35 cents per day for football players during the early practice sessions; official timers and field clocks for all conference grid games; a five-year maximum playing period for athletes; hiking basketball officials' fees to $20 per game in addition to 10 cents per mile traveling expenses; a plan to have each member team play five of the other six each year in all sports; and the momentous question of whether tennis matches should consist of four singles and two doubles, or six singles and three doubles.

Should Marshall resign, the chances are that the probation period of Xavier and Western State would be terminated Jan. 1, lifting them to full-fledged membership for the basketball campaign. However, unless some extensive schedule changes are made, the induction of the two schools would have little bearing on the championship. Xavier has six games booked with conference schools, and Western State but three.

The last time a probationary member was allowed full privileges the league didn't like it so well. That was in 1931-32 when DePauw and Wabash were permitted to count their conference games, and DePauw won the championship. Then the Hoosiers quit the league, and Wabash followed suit.

The Ohio conference, meeting today, had nothing of importance on its slate outside of making up the spring sports schedule and ironing out the 1940 football slates. The 1939 grid games were scheduled last winter. Oberlin college reached out a long way to get its 14-man basketball squad. Only five of the boys are from Ohio, the others coming from Idaho, Illinois, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, California and (honest) China. And in Dick Armistead of Ravenna, one of the four lettermen, the Yoemen have the tallest basketball player in the state. He's six feet seven inches tall, and odd-ly enough, they call him "Stretch."

The Yoemen, on orders from Coach Walter Hargeshelmer, have had their hair cut short—an item in the mentor's attempt to streamline the squad which won four and lost nine last season. That record gave Oberlin an even all-time break in basketball. In 25 years the Yoemen have played 388 basketball games, winning 194 and losing 194.

Pittsburgh — Fritz Zivic, 148, Pittsburgh, outpointed Vincent Pimpinella, 151½, Brooklyn.

Philadelphia — Wally Sears, 175, Minersville, Pa., outpointed Al Elmore, 197, Philadelphia, (10).

SYDNEY, Australia—During the four years that Skipper IV, a gray nurse shark, has been confined in the local aquarium pool and where it has never been seen to stop swimming, it is estimated that the fish covered 105,120 miles at three miles per hour. It has also eaten 5,840 pounds of kingfish and manta during that time.

SALEM RESERVE CAGE TEAMS TO FACE FAIRFIELD

Brown Expects to Name Varsity and Reserve Squads Monday

Coach Herb Brown will be given an indication of the reserve strength of his Salem High school basketball squad tomorrow night when two teams of Quaker reserves tangle with Fairfield varsity and reserve quintets in games at Fairfield. The first game will start at 8 o'clock.

Brown will take all but the veteran members of his present squad to Fairfield. Players who show up well in the two games will be kept on the squad while others will be cut.

The Quakers have been practicing with an oversized squad since Wednesday, Nov. 30. Brown has eliminated some candidates for the team during practice sessions. He has delayed his final cut until after the Fairfield practice games.

The Quaker coach expects to name his varsity and reserve squads early next week. Both teams will open the 1938-39 season next Thursday night, playing at Lisbon in the county seat team's new gym.

Five holdovers from last season's varsity squad, four of them lettermen, are among the players not practicing. They are: Bill Schaeffer, the only member of the Quakers varsity football team on the basketball squad; Jim Dickey, Amos Dunlap, Glenn McLaughlin and Lester Knepp. All but Knepp are lettermen.

The remaining members of the 1938-39 varsity squad will probably be chosen from the following players from last season's reserve squad: Jimmy Kleon, Burton Sutter, Glen Duncan, Bill Kerr, John Tarr, Bob Schoe, Bob Whitcomb, Jim Ameni, Watson (Bud Walters) and Mike Thomas.

CAPE TOWN — Seventy-six-year old Paul van der Merwe, of Kimberley, was found in a suburb of Capetown after having been missing for four days. He should have been easy to find—he is 6 feet 8 inches in height.

THE GUMPS—SPRUNG!

"Often a Bridesmaid"

BY HAZEL LIVINGSTON

CHAPTER XVIII
The faint, which probably was a faint, as were most of Sue's fainting spells, ended in a very real cut, and an alarming loss of blood. Sue struck her head against a sharp corner of the linen closet as she fell, and frightened Margaret and Aunt Bet, who came running at the sound of the fall, half to death. It was a nasty bump, and Margaret, applying sterile gauze from the medicine chest, thought Aunt Bet had better call the Decker's doctor. Aunt Bet couldn't find the number without her glasses, and she couldn't find her glasses— "Then you hold the gauze, while I telephone—"

"I will if I can, but you know how faint anything like this always makes me. If you'd just look—in my workbasket—"

"Nonsense! Of course you can. Just hold it tight! I won't be a minute!"

"No," Sue moaned, "no, no, no—I won't have it. I won't have the doctor called—"

"Go on!" Margaret whispered, forgetting for a moment that she'd have to do the telephoning herself. "Hurry!"

"No—no. I'm all right. Let me sit up. I'm all right. Help me! Help me!"

They got her into the bedroom, and laid her on Margaret's bed. "Water," she whispered weakly. They lifted her head, while she drank. She lay back on the pillow smiling faintly, keeping her right hand on Margaret's hand. "Sue, I'm sure you're all right, but I do think it would be wise to call the doctor. If you'll just let me go a minute—"

"No—"

Margaret tried to disentangle the clutching fingers.

Sue pushed her away angrily, and sat up. "Will you listen to me?" she demanded angrily. "I owe him money now, and I'll never be able to pay it. You can't have a doctor every time you faint, and cut a gash in your head, when you're poor as we are! What's more the time's coming when I'll have to have a doctor, money or no money, even if they have to call a police ambulance and take me to the county hospital! I can't afford to squander money now on doctors! Not if I die!"

"Now Sue—" Margaret felt better. If Sue had strength for one of her acts she couldn't be so badly hurt after all.

But Aunt Bet, white as the bedspread was clutching a chair for support. "Margaret—I really think you ought—"

Sue began to laugh, weakly at first, then louder and louder—"Mrs. Werfel! If you could see your face! Did I scare you so? I'm sorry. I know it's hard for you to realize.

but Margaret knows. Kenneth only makes a hundred dollars a month you know, and we have furniture to pay for, and the car, and we owe everybody and I CAN'T take anything from the family—my pride won't let me, especially now that I'm having a baby—practically a charity baby—"

"Sue!" Margaret was as white as Aunt Bet. For the moment the invalid looked healthiest of the three.

"Of course. Didn't you guess? I thought everybody knew. My fainting and looking so terrible, and feeling worse and—"

"But Sue! You wanted to go skiing!"

It was then that Sue began to cry. "Of course I wanted to go skiing! And why shouldn't I? Am I to have no fun at all? Am I to be buried alive, like Ken wants, all these long months of waiting for the dear baby! Isn't it enough to be sick and broke and miserable and unhappy, without staying home forever? 'Oh, you don't know—you don't know—you work and have money! You don't know what it is to have nothing, and be sick, and a baby coming—and—"

By the time Margaret got to the telephone to call the doctor, and he drove the half mile from his home to theirs, Sue had a real case of hysterics, and Aunt Bet really fainted.

Kenneth came. Mrs. Decker came. Mr. Decker was reported flying home from Los Angeles. Sue lay in Margaret's bed wrapped in Margaret's best negligee. Kenneth knelt beside her, his face buried in the white candlewick spread. Sue stroked his dark hair with her white hand. "Don't worry, darling. It's nothing. I'm perfectly well, and finish the washing. I've got seven shirts of yours to do, and I haven't done the dishes yet, I'm such a bad wife, Kenny darling, such a bad wife—"

Natalie, fresh from her Saturday afternoon session at the beauty shop, came to call Margaret.

"Margaret, I know you're busy, but Lane Penny's downstairs. He says you were going to drive over the bridge to San Francisco, and buy some things in Chinatown, and then go to North Beach for dinner—"

"It can't be that late!"

"Three o'clock. He's waiting. Shall I tell him twenty minutes?"

"Twenty minutes!—I can't go with Sue here and Ken and the Deckers and everything! I'll have to tell him—no, you tell him. Tell him what's happened, and—oh, I wish you didn't have a date, then you could go and keep him happy—"

"It's only with Jimmy and the Fletchers. I can break it."

"Well—I hate to ask you, but I've broken so many, many dates with Lane, and he's such a swell fellow—"

Natalie touched her freshly curled hair with gentle fingers. She smiled at her harassed elder sister. "I can bear it, if Lane can!"

Everyone, even Natalie, who pretended to be bored by it all, was thrilled by Sue's baby—or babies for in June the twins, named Sarah and Elizabeth for the two grandmothers, were born.

The first of "the crowd" to have a baby, Sue made the most of the excitement, and graciously allowed the Deckers to finance the event. Everyone thought she was wonderful, letting the Deckers provide specialists and trained nurses and the most elaborate of layettes when she'd really have preferred to make all the little clothes herself and just call the family doctor. "But if you're going to have a child, you have to think of it—not of yourself," she said.

The Raleighs wanted to share in the excitement, too, and though Sue tried, in her new role of young mother, to be sweet with everyone, something always happened to spoil it. Falsely flattered by the choosing of her name for one of the twins, Mrs. Raleigh began referring to her little namesake as "Grandma's Sadie Baby," and was stunned when Sue objected.

"But everyone always called me Sadie!"

"That," Sue said grimly, "was your hard luck. No one is going to call my child Sadie. Not while I live and breathe."

Mrs. Raleigh resisted the impulse to say what she thought of a daughter-in-law who names a child after you and then all but swears at you when you mention the name. "But Sarah is such an ugly name, dear. I always kind of liked Sadie, myself. It always kind of seemed to me—"

"I'm sorry you are disappointed. Mother Raleigh, but I WON'T have her called Sadie! Ugh! Sadie Raleigh. Nothing could be worse. But Sarah Decker Raleigh is something else again. Sarah's a swell name. If I didn't like it, I wouldn't have named my baby that!"

And nothing she was able to say later about naming the twins for the two grandmothers had any conciliatory effect on her mother-in-law.

"Every time I come home," Ken complained, "I stumble over a Decker. But let MY mother so much as touch her own grandchild, and Sue yells so loud you could hear her in China!"

"Well, after all, a girl's own mother—" Margaret tried to explain.

"But what about MY mother? Haven't a father any feelings, too?"

And later on when the white-uniformed trained nurse left, and there was no one to take her place because Sue rashly said that if she couldn't have a trained person she wouldn't have ANYONE—meaning that her father should go on paying the nurse—and Mrs. Decker took her, or pretended to take her at her word, she quarreled with her mother, too.

One night when Lane Penny called on Margaret and was telling her of a proposed trip, the telephone rang.

"Excuse me, Lane."

He frowned a little as she hurried across the hall to the study.

He frowned even more when she rushed back. "Lane, I know you don't like Sue, but KENNY says both the babies are screaming and she's crying, and he's nearly crazy! I could hardly hear him for the noise—!" A little smile played around the corner of her mouth, she spread her hands deprecatingly. "So I'm just going to jump in the car and see what I can do. I won't be a minute. Father's in the study. You might talk to him for a couple of minutes, and the girls are somewhere about—"

He let her go. He had half a mind to get his hat and clear out while she was gone, but Natalie and two or three college kids were sitting on the steps in the warm September darkness, singing, and one of the boys had a mandolin. He dropped into a chair on the porch to listen a few minutes. And presently he was singing, too.
